Dry/wet cutting diamond blades for clay bricks

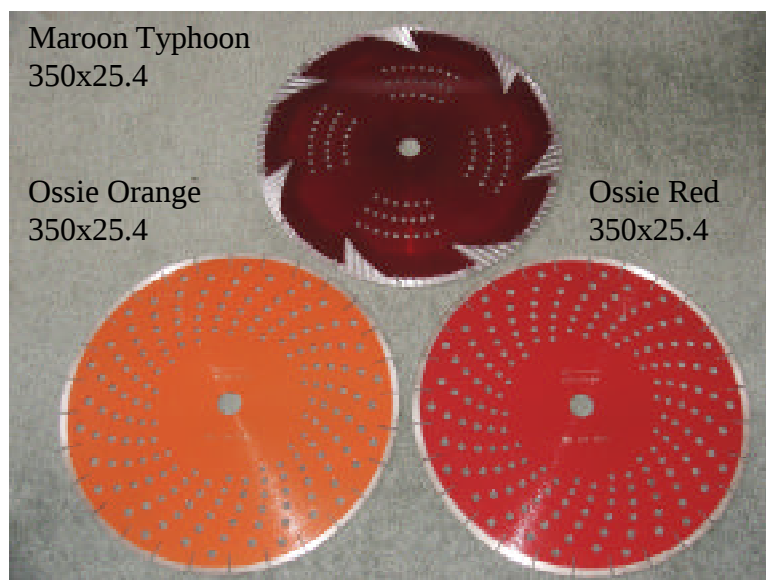

Diamond blades designed for cutting clay bricks take various forms due to the variable nature of brick, and the variable nature of brick saws.

Ossie Orange and Ossie Red are new technology blades designed specifically to meet the needs of bricklayers who need to keep blades price to a minimum.

Bricklayers need to cut wet and dry depending on the job, they also tend to use lightweight low powered saws which are easier to get around the scaffolding etc.

Ossie red and ossie Orange are designed for lightweight, cut wet or dry, can be used on saws from 1..3 h.p. (including dropsaws) and need very little water for excellent value cutting.

Maroon Typhoon is designed for drop saws or saws where water is seldom if ever used. Maroon Typhoon can cut a very wide variety of materials quickly on any masonry or drop saw.
